Thursday, January 21, Tween/Teen: Talking Sense About Sex, 1:00 – 2:30 PM, Wilmette Junior High School auditorium, 620 Locust Rd., Wilmette, IL, 60091.

Deborah Roffman, M.S, has been a sexuality educator, author and educational consultant for more than 20 years. The author of Sex & Sensibility: The Thinking Parent's Guide to Talking Sense About Sex, she last spoke in New Trier Township in 2006. She is the human sexuality educator at The Park School, Baltimore MD.

The sexuality of our culture has changed more than we (or our kids) know. Parents are key to guiding children and adolescents. More than just “the talk” and when to have it, Deborah Roffman stresses a five part framework for overcoming the obstacles for effectively discussing values, facts, and limits. Learn how to open the way for ongoing and anticipatory communication within the family.

(Note – the presentation is at the Wilmette Junior High School Auditorium, not the auditorium at Highcrest Middle School.)
